THE HUMOR IN AGING ENJOY THE NEXT PASSAGE OF LIFE

CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 46 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.1in.3 WHY IS THE BOOK BEING WRITTEN I recently returned to school at age 73 to gain my doctorate. Now, as many have questioned, why did I return to school at the ripe old age of 73 My answer, I enjoy life. I am eager to learn different things. I want my mind to stay active and alert, but most of all; I dont want to sit in a rocking chair and knit in an old mother Hubbard house dress. What I resent most are my 70 plus counterparts that think my returning to school is a waste of time. However, my younger cohorts think it is marvelous that I have returned to school. I believe society has programmed our senior population to think after 65 your life should stop. Unfortunately, many of my friends and acquaintances strengthen this fallacy and see old age as an end to life when it is the beginning of a new and exciting era and phase in their life! So, they sit around and say woe is me, stop dressing attractively, become immobile and psych themselves up to believe that there is only sadness in growing old. At the age of 77, I think old age is hilarious, so I decided to put my funny shared experiences of aging in a book. I hope the comedic experiences will change how my counterparts view aging, give them a good laugh, and persuade them to embrace aging as a new dawn that is just as exciting as entering adulthood at 21. Recognizing the humor in growing old will make life more enjoyable and keep a smile on your face. When I First Realized I Was Old!...
