Imprint Academic. Paperback. Condition: New. 92 pages. Dimensions: 8.2in. x 5.1in. x 0.6in. My aim in this essay is to show why we should hold unlearning to be a crucial capability in and for education at this point in our history. Essentially, I argue that it enables to pose and take seriously the problem of governmentality: How are we governed - individually and collectively Do we wish to be governed in this or that way, to this or that extent, so much, so little, or so badly, under these or those conditions Or do we wish instead to be self-governed and thereby practice our freedom and be more autonomous, relatively speaking As such, it puts in question in a radical way the twin pillars of the so-called contemporary consensus - representative (liberal or social) democracy and capitalism--, and makes it possible to take a critical measure of their limits, insufficiencies, and irremediable deficits. Only an unmitigated advocacy of unlearning can bring about a paradigm shift that can move us from the present system of (mis)education as it evolved in modernity This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
